A little bit of history...

Conrad Printing Co. Inc. began in a three-car garage in 1970 at the rear of 430 Carlisle St., Hanover, PA. Don Conrad opened the printing business part time while working for Doubleday Inc. In 1971, as the business grew, Don quit his job at Doubleday and decided to run his shop full time.

In 1976, Don's son, Andy, began working at the print shop part time. Joining his dad full-time in 1978, Andy has been by his dad's side ever since. In 1979, the business moved to its current location at 109 Third St., Rear, Hanover, PA.

One of the first pieces of machinery at Conrad Printing was a Mergenthaler Linotype. With computers today, Linotype usage is becoming a thing of the past. In fact, if you visit the American History Museum at the Smithsonian Institute, you can see a Linotype on display. Pictured above, the Linotype is still in use today at Conrad Printing.

Over the years, Don and Andy have seen many changes in the printing business. Although still using some of the original machinery, many purchases have been made to keep up with the advancing technology.

For those of you we have served before, we thank you for your patronage. If you have never used Conrad Printing for your printing needs, please allow us a chance to serve you.
